

Asda upgrades and “House colours”

Our unique PVC Thermopanel has been installed to over 50 Asda stores across the UK to date. Grimsby Asda was the first Store to have our unique thermopanel in 2004.

The more recent installations at Fleetwood and Romford’s flagship shopping centre look stunning with Thermopanel up to 4.2m high bamboo, burgundy and white food safe panels.

Typical refurbishments incorporate our 10mm class “O” food safe system bonded direct to blockwork, gyproc studwork and “seal in” damaged, suspect and uneven tile surfaces.

The new 3mm single skin Thermopanel is now available in house colours and has been tested for covering old/scratched composite panels, new plasterboards and has the food safe face and soft foam reverse for “maximum adhesion” to compliment the 10mm system and most of all to save money.

Hygenic’s senior contracts manager Walter Burd said Architects, contractors and shopfitters need to specify and install products in their designs that are trusted, tried and tested as their own reputation is normally at stake. We are driving costs down with the introduction of the 3mm system to compliment our 10mm system.
